

NEWS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 22, 2018

Contact: Kaleb Little: (573) 635-3893

Metroplex Residents are Invited to Join in the Festivities as the National Biodiesel Conference & Expo Opens in Fort Worth

(FORT WORTH) – The National Biodiesel Conference & Expo opens Tuesday for hundreds of biodiesel fanatics gathered at the Fort Worth Convention Center.

And the conference isn't just for industry insiders. The public is invited Tuesday to join in the discussions focused on biodiesel technology, public policy and more. They will also have the opportunity to explore the event's Conference Central, where they can learn all about how biodiesel is made from an increasingly diverse mix of resources such as recycled cooking oil, soybean oil and animal fats. A Texas driver's license is required for local residents to attend free of charge.

BIODIESEL'S BRIGHT LIGHTS & BIG OPPORTUNITIES

8:30 am | Tuesday, January 23

Expo Mainstage | Exhibit Hall A | Fort Worth Convention Center

Take a deep dive into market dynamics with an industry petroleum panel and hear firsthand the obstacles and opportunities facing the biodiesel industry from those who also have a stake in key issues.

Speakers: Donnell Rehagen, CEO, NBB; NBB Board Chairman Kent Engelbrecht, Biodiesel Trade Manager, Archer Daniels Midland Company; Ryan McNutt, CEO, SIGMA; Chet Thompson, CEO, American Fuel & Petrochemicals Manufacturers; Rob Underwood, President, Petroleum Marketers Association of America

Biodiesel Vehicle Showcase

1:15 pm | Tuesday, January 23

Exhibit Hall A | Fort Worth Convention Center

Come see what surprises the automakers and fleets have in store this year as they showcase their latest biodiesel-capable vehicles, technologies and announcements.

-30-

For more information and media registration, please visit www.biodieselconference.org.